PREFACE

It gives me great pleasure to dedicate this book to the people of Alberta as we celebrate together the Centennials of the Province and of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta. It is my hope that you will find in the pages of this book a better understanding of how privileged we are to live in a parliamentary democracy, which permits and encourages all of us to participate in so many different ways—according to our particular talents and interests.

This volume is one in a series of four books that document the rich history of our province and our remarkable system of governance.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Chief Electoral Officer, Mr. O. Brian Fjeldheim, and his staff for their contributions to this book.

On behalf of the Members of the 26th Legislature may I wish all Albertans everywhere truly enjoyable and memorable Centennial years, and may we all look forward to the promise of the even greater achievements that will come about as Alberta's second century unfolds.

Kenneth R. Kowalski
Member for Barrhead-Morinville-Westlock
Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta

LETTER FROM THE CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

A report on the electoral history of Alberta was first compiled in 1983 to provide a convenient summary of information on the general elections, by-elections and major plebiscites held from 1905, when Alberta entered Confederation, through 1982.

Alberta's 100th birthday afforded the perfect opportunity to expand this historical record. Our Centennial edition presents the previous information and includes electoral events from 1982 to the most recent Provincial General Election, held in November 2004.

The main sources of data were the Provincial Archives and the Alberta Legislature Library. Research disclosed some discrepancies between data sources, which you may note in comparison with other publications.

Copies of the electoral maps used at the majority of elections are included. Particular items of interest have also been incorporated. While the listing is not all encompassing, it highlights most of the significant events from Alberta's electoral history, based on calls to this Office.

The publication of this report is due, in large part, to the kind assistance provided by the staff at the Provincial Archives, the Legislature Library and the Office of the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly.

O. Brian Fjeldheim
Chief Electoral Officer

a century of democracy

INTRODUCTION

DEMOCRACY IN ALBERTA

Beginning with its first provincial election in 1905, Alberta developed its tradition of democratic governance featuring elected representation and a system of responsible government in which the executive is held accountable by the Legislature.

Over the past century, Alberta has developed a reputation as an innovator in matters of electoral systems primarily due to having adopted various methods to elect representatives to the Legislature including multi-Member constituencies and transferable votes.* Currently, Alberta uses the single-Member plurality system found in all the provinces and at the federal level in Canada. Under this system, each constituency elects one Member to the Legislative Assembly and the winning candidate is the one who receives the highest number of the votes cast. This system does not set quotas or require candidates to secure a particular percentage of the vote in order to win a seat.

As Alberta's political culture evolved, the province has displayed a trend toward large majority governments. On many occasions there have been fewer than five Opposition Members in the Legislative Assembly. The trend has also been for these large majority governments to form the government for several consecutive terms before being removed from the Legislature almost entirely. It is also interesting to note that the only opposition party that has gone on to form the Government of Alberta is the Progressive Conservative Party.

When Alberta held its first election in 1905, the only parties represented were the Liberals and Conservatives, the same two parties with strong representation at the federal level. By the following election, however, new parties with few ties to a federal counterpart were already forming. Two of these parties, the United Farmers of Alberta and Social Credit, were victorious in the polls and able to form the Government on several consecutive occasions.

* A detailed explanation of these systems, as used in Alberta, is included in the appendices.

ELECTION OVERVIEW

The first provincial election held in Alberta, on November 9, 1905, was governed by the regulations in the Ordinances of the North-West Territories. It was not until 1909 that the province enacted its own election legislation with An Act respecting Elections of Members of the Legislative Assembly. This Act, like its predecessor, indicated the Clerk of the Executive Council was responsible for overseeing the administration of general elections in the province. Once the Lieutenant Governor issued the election proclamation, it was the Clerk of the Executive Council who was responsible for ensuring the proclamation was published in the Alberta Gazette and other newspapers, providing official notice to each registrar of his or her appointment, ensuring officers received a revised list of voters for his or her electoral division and other administrative tasks related to the election.

The responsibility for administering general elections in Alberta remained with the Clerk of the Executive Council until The Election Statutes Amendment Act, 1972. Under this new legislation, the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, a non-partisan officer of the Assembly, took on the administrative responsibilities associated with elections. This legislative change coincided with an administrative change which saw the appointment of two different individuals to the positions of the Clerk of the Executive Council and the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly. Although the two roles themselves were always distinct, it was the practice in Alberta from 1935 to 1973 to have the same individual serve in both offices concurrently.

It was not until 1977 that legislation came into effect to create an officer of the Legislature, the Chief Electoral Officer. Appointed by a special committee of Members of the Legislative Assembly, the Office of the Chief Electoral Officer continues to administer all by-elections and general elections for the province of Alberta. Since 1977, four individuals have occupied the role of Chief Electoral Officer. Biographical information on Alberta's Chief Electoral Officers can be found in Appendix E. The following page lists the tenures of Alberta's Clerks of the Executive Council, Clerks of the Legislative Assembly and Chief Electoral Officers.

ALBERTA'S FIRST ELECTION

Alberta became a province on September 1, 1905, and the first provincial election followed on November 9, 1905. As there had been insufficient time to introduce an act to govern elections in Alberta, this election was conducted under The Territories Elections Ordinance. No list of electors was compiled in advance for this election. Instead, Deputy Returning Officers required persons wishing to vote to provide their full name, occupation and place of residence, which was recorded in the poll book. Only male British subjects by birth or naturalization (other than unenfranchised Indians) who had attained the full age of 21 years, who had resided in the North-West Territories for at least 12 months and in the electoral district for at least three months immediately preceding the election were qualified to vote.

Hours for voting at the 1905 election were from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The ballots used for voting were blank and no candidates' names were shown as voting was carried out using coloured pencils. The voter received a ballot paper and pencils from the Deputy Returning Officer, then selected the coloured pencil with the desired candidate's name. The voter then made a mark in the form of an 'X' on the blank face of the ballot paper using that coloured pencil.

In this election and in all elections from 1959 through 2004 each electoral division or constituency elected one Member only, with the candidate receiving the highest number of votes declared the winner. This system is called single-Member-plurality voting. In 1905 there were 25 Members elected; today there are 83.

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions with plurality victory.

2. A List of Electors was not used in the 1905 election. To qualify to cast a ballot, the voter had to be a male British subject by birth or naturalized (other than unenfranchised Indians) who was the full age of 21 years, who had resided in the North-West Territories for at least 12 months and in the electoral district for at least three months preceding the time of voting. The Deputy Returning Officer was responsible for obtaining the voter's full name, occupation and place of residence and for entering that information in the poll book.

Rutherford Goverment Sustained by a Large Portion of the People.

Alberta Stands for Government Control and Apnistration of Lands, Separate Schools—McKenzie elected by large majority. Campbell looses his deposit. Results in Macleod a surprise to all.

The results of the elections in the Province of Alberta show that the goverment has been sustained by a large majority.

Late returns give the Conservatives six seats and several in doubt. Reliable reports very meagre and results may be somewhat changed by complete returns. Bennett an almost sure winner in Calgary.

* Votes Received will exceed Total Votes Cast due to two votes being cast for the PROVINCE AT LARGE candidates.

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions with plurality victory, plus two wartime variations: (a) sitting Members serving in the armed forces were automatically returned without a poll, (Chapter 38); and (b) Alberta soldiers and nurses serving overseas elected two representatives at large by special ballot.

In the electoral district of Athabasca, the June 1917 general election was deferred 20 days to June 27, 1917. This was done in order to compensate for the difficulty in covering the vast geographic area within the usual time frame specified by The Alberta Election Act.

2. Brackets ( ) indicate number of polls not counted; n/a means figures not available.

3. Chapter 38 of The Alberta Election Act, assented to April 5, 1917, nominated and elected for the Fourth Legislature Members of the Third Legislature who had enlisted for overseas service with His Majesty's Forces.

Summary of Results by Electoral Division

Did you know that until 1926, Members were required to run for re-election before accepting an appointment to cabinet? From 1909 to 1926, 15 by-elections were held for this purpose and in nine of these instances the Member was returned by acclamation.

60 Members

One Member per electoral division except Edmonton and Calgary, which had five each. (Note 1)

FARMERS CAPTURE 38 OF THE 61 SEATS IN THE LEGISLATURE

Government Has 15 Seats; Marshall, McLean and Smith Go Down in Slaughter; Labor Has Four Seats and Independents Four; Only 12 Members of Last Legislature Elected to the House

The Stewart government was defeated in the election yesterday in a most decisive manner by the United Farmers of Alberta. At the time of writing, the farmers have passed the 35 mark, and it is possible that they will have 40 representatives in the next house.

In the landslide Hon. Duncan Marshall went under in Olds. Hon. George P. Smith lost out by a big majority in Camrose, and according to the latest returns Hon. Archie McLean is down in Taber.

Hon. Charles Mitchell made a great fight in Bow Valley, and Hon. John R. Boyle carried Edmonton in good fashion, taking in his entire ticket with him. The result in Sturgeon, in which he was also a candidate, is in doubt, but it is believed that he may carry that seat as well.

The Conservatives have not one single representative in the next house.

There were some surprises in the election. The defeat of Mrs. McKinney was one of the surprises. In the next house, however, there will be two women—Mrs. McClung, in Edmonton, and Mrs. Parlby, who won a hard fight in the riding of Lacombe.

Labor will be represented by four members, the two Calgary members, the Medicine Hat member, and, according to the latest return, Christopher in Rocky Mountain is leading.

The Independents who are elected in addition to Captain Pearson and R. C. Edwards in Calgary, are General Stewart, who was elected in 1917 as a Conservative but broke away with the Hoadley dissension, and Mr. Mines, of Chresholm. Mr. Edwards and Mr. Mines, during the campaign, announced a general support of the government.

The elimination of the Conservative party was one of the most surprising incidents of the entire campaign. Mr. Ewing, the leader, ran sixth in Edmonton, but hundreds of votes behind his nearest opponent. Dr. Costello ran eighth in Calgary, nearly one thousand behind Robert Pearson, who was fifth in the running. S. E. Hilleeks, last on the Conservative slate, lost his deposit.

Lundy, the only other Conservative who ran under the name, was badly beaten in Stony Plains. Of the 61 members, only 12 have seen service in the house, according to the latest returns. It is probable that 19 new members will be in the house. The old members are the following: Premier Stewart, Hons. Mitchell, Cote, Tobin, Walker, Mills, Hoadley, Moore, Ross, Pearson,

Summary of Results by Electoral Division

Did you know that from 1926 to 1955 Albertans used the transferable vote system? Under this system, the voter would rank candidates according to preference. This system explains the terms 'first' and 'second' count referred to in the election returns for this period.

63 Members

One Member per electoral division except Edmonton and Calgary, which had six each. (Note 1) wspapermen are usually men a general knowledge which they picked up through meeting peo s all walks of life. It is surprising many newspapermen are taken their typewriters in the editorial s and given responsible positions there.

r instance: There is the recent ple of the Western Canada Fuel ciation, an organization composed al operators, wholesalers and ers, which appointed a journalist secretary.

one took the argument seriously the prosperity of the coal industry of such a community as Drumr depended on a working knowl of coal mines, then it would be ble to suggest that the local oper s who endorsed the appointment journalist as secretary of their ciation had made a big mistake. r should have appointed D. A. ulay.

other instance comes to mind: ughout the campaign for low ht rates in Ontario, there was one who very frequently burst into limelight. This man was responsi or the stream of publicity which ed the Dominion. He further was nsible for placing arguments be Members of Parliament, arrang demonstrations of the Alberta pro , promoting lobbies at Ottawa, in general, directing the battle on lf of Alberta coal. His name is ard Stutchbury—another old-time boiled journalist.

m not attempting to prove that a spaperman is the logical man to sent this constituency in Edmon or that editors have a monopoly intelligence, but is it a coincidence, k you, that so many newspaper are given responsible positions e commercial, social and political of the country?

Candidates Make Last Efforts To Gain Election Victory This Week

Large Rallies on Monday and Tuesday in Elks' Hall; Labor's Ideals Set Forth by Elmer Roper in Support of Key on Monday; Macaulay Outlines Platform to Large Crowd on Tuesday.

Within twenty-four hours it is anticipated that the electors will know definitely which of the four candidates has been elected to the Drumheller constituency. It is generally agreed today that Archibald Key, Labor candidate, occupies the strongest position, with supporters of the two Independents claiming that their candidates will occupy second place in the first ballot.

However, there is nothing certain until the last ballot is cast and although Mr. Key may hold top place in the first count, there is no assurance that he will poll a clear majority over the remaining three candidates. The vote may call for a second count which may then change the standing of each contestant for Provincial honors.

Supporters of the Independents claim that Nacmine and Wayne will be almost solid for the Labor candidate, while it is anticipated that he will get a majority in Rosedale and North Drumheller.

Both the supporters of Mr. Macaulay and Mr. Moyer look for a majority vote in East Coulee, but Mr. Key's agent also feels that this polling division will give many votes to Labor.

The city itself is likely to yield the biggest surprise as there is no way of judging how the vote will go. With the businessmen divided between the two Independents and Mr. Key, and the Communist looking for a certain proportion of the working class vote, Drumheller itself is an enigma today.

MOYER REFUSES TO ADMIT NON-SUPPORT

Addressing women electors on Friday afternoon in the Elks' Hall, F. C. Moyer asserted that the Labor candidate was under a false impression when he stated that Premier Brownlee was opposed to Independents. Labor, he claimed, had been definitely placed in the opposition as the Premier had stated that one reason for calling an election was due to the fact that Labor was giving so much trouble about unemployment that he considered it only fair to go to the people before the winter problem of unemployment presented itself.

Mr. Moyer dealt at some length on the campaign of personalities which he claimed had been directed against him. He further claimed that two of the other candidates were openly tied to parties while he was entirely free from alliances.

The Independent spoke in favor of using the abandoned agricultural schools for homes for delinquent children.

He also dealt with the question of unemployment, suggesting that the

KEY SUPPORTERS LISTEN TO ROPER IN INSPIRED TALK

"Every piece of social legislation which has been placed on the statute books of the Province was initiated by the Labor group in parliament," Elmer E. Roper, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Labor, and editor of the Alberta Labor News, said in the course of his address in support of Archibald Key on Monday night at the Elks' Hall.

In a lengthy speech, which was listened to with keen attention by the hundreds of electors who crowded into the hall, Mr. Roper dealt with many phases of Labor's programme as he urged his hearers to strengthen the small group of Labor members in the Provincial House by voting for Mr. Key.

The Labor group had fought for the creation of the Drumheller constituency, Mr. Roper stated at the commencement of his address. It had long been felt by this group that an industrial centre like Drumheller should be directly represented.

Turning his attention to planks in

MACAULAY STRESSES COAL ISSUES AT HIS RALLY ON TUESDAY

Stressing the necessity for legislation to assist the Alberta coal industry, D. A. Macaulay laid emphasis on his intimate connection with the mines of the Drumheller valley as a reason why the electors of the Drumheller constituency should send him to Edmonton on June 19, at his final rally to the Elks' Hall on Tuesday evening.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Macaulay said that although he respected the Labor candidate who was a good neighbor of his, he felt that a newspaper editor could not be conversant with the mining industry and therefore would be unable to look after the best interests of the Drumheller valley in the Provincial House.

He, the speaker, had been associated with the mining industry since childhood and understood the needs of the industry.

Mr. Macaulay went on record as being opposed to group government. He felt that although agriculture was the leading industry of the Province, the coal industry came second. He had been accused of being induced to seek office by a small group but this was not true. He was not running as a representative of the coal operators; in fact, certain operators were opposed to him.

Dealing with the points in his program, Mr. Macaulay said that returned men who showed that they had the necessary qualifications, should be given preference in civil service jobs.

The mining industry was not gaining ground, the speaker contended, production was just holding its own, and although the Province and government had done something to assist the industry the Dominion had failed. Mr. Macaulay traced the history of the fight for the Ontario freight rate and pointed to the weaknesses of the trial rate. He advocated a five-year period.

Mr. Macaulay argued for the opening of a sales promotion office in Winnipeg by the Provincial government for the purpose of counteracting the influx of U.S. coke. He further placed himself on record as favoring union men in the mines.

Commencing with this issue, a attempt will be made to publish Th Drumheller Mail several hours ear ar than in the past.

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions except in Edmonton and Calgary, which had six each. Single-Member electoral divisions used an alternative, or preferential, voting system wherein electors ranked the candidates in order of preference and votes were transferred if no candidates received a majority of first preferences. Edmonton and Calgary used a system of proportional representation.

2. The number 1 represents First Count results; the number 2 represents Last Count results.

3. Bracketed figures ( ) in the Votes Received column represent the total number of rejected and declined ballots.

4. Percent Voting = (votes received + declined and rejected ballots) / Eligible Electors.

Notes:

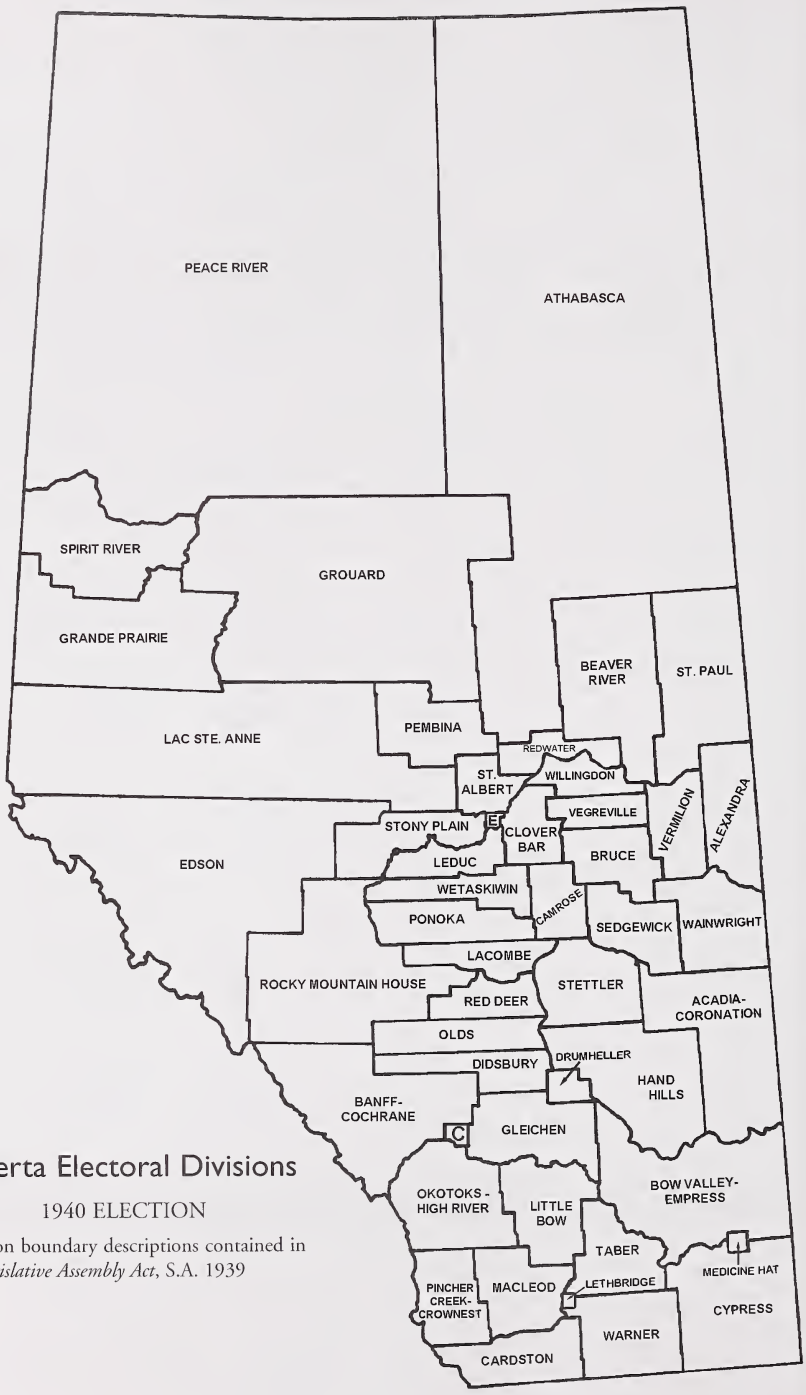
1. Single-Member electoral divisions except in Edmonton and Calgary, which had five each. Single-Member electoral divisions used an alternative, or preferential, voting system wherein electors ranked the candidates in order of preference and votes were transferred if no candidates received a majority of first preferences. Edmonton and Calgary used a system of proportional representation.

2. The number 1 represents First Count results; the number 2 represents Last Count results.

3. C.C.F. means Cooperative Commonwealth Federation.

4. Bracketed figures ( ) in the Votes Received column represent the total number of rejected and declined ballots.

5. Percent Voting = (votes received + declined and rejected ballots) / Eligible Electors.



Alberta Electoral Divisions

1940 ELECTION

Based on boundary descriptions contained in the Legislative Assembly Act, S.A. 1939

1944

Summary of Results by Electoral Division

Did you know that in the 1944 election, Albertans in the armed forces elected three Members to represent the Navy, Army and Air Force? These Members did not represent any electoral division and sat as a separate group of three on the opposition side of the Assembly.

57 Members

One Member per electoral division except Edmonton and Calgary, which had five each. (Note 1)

General Election – Tuesday August 8, 1944

In both the First and Second World Wars members of the Armed Forces were able to elect their own representatives to the Assembly. Army representative Captain J. Harper Prowse is presented to Speaker Peter Dawson by his fellow service representatives Chief Petty Officer Loftus Dudley Ward (navy) and Wing Commander Frederick C. Colborne, D.F.C. (air force).

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions except in Edmonton and Calgary, which had five each. Single-Member electoral divisions used an alternative, or preferential, voting system wherein electors ranked the candidates in order of preference and votes were transferred if no candidates received a majority of first preferences. Edmonton and Calgary used a system of proportional representation.

2. The number 1 represents First Count results; the number 2 represents Last Count results.

3. C.C.F. means Cooperative Commonwealth Federation; V. & A.F. means Veterans & Active Force Party.

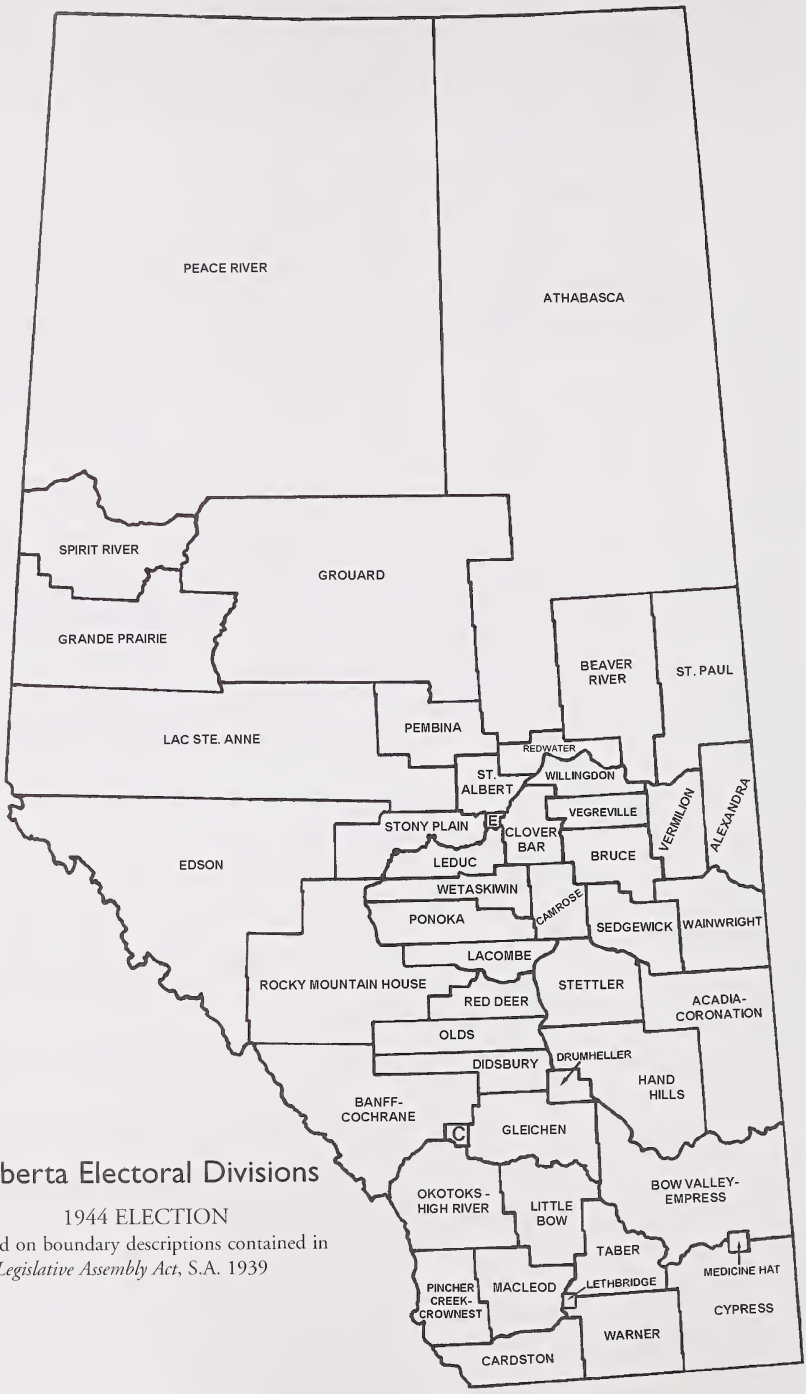
4. Bracketed figures ( ) in the votes received column represent the total number of rejected and declined ballots.

5. Percent Voting = (votes received + declined and rejected ballots) / Eligible Electors.

6. Three of the Members serving in the 10th Legislature were elected not to represent a specific electoral division in the province but to represent Albertans serving in the armed forces whose responsibilities had precluded their participation in the 1944 polls. These Members represented the three branches of the armed forces: the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force. Elected without a political party affiliation, they sat on the Opposition side of the Chamber.

Polling for these three seats happened between January 8 and January 20, 1945, inclusive. As Albertans serving in the forces were spread across countries and continents the polls for the three armed forces representatives were divided into four areas:

- Area 1 (Canada): consisting of the whole of Canada (exclusive of Alberta), Newfoundland, Bermuda, The Bahamas, the United States of America, and any other country not included in the areas numbered 2, 3, and 4 where members of the forces were serving
- Area 2 (Italy): consisting of Italy and other countries bordering on the Mediterranean Sea with the exception of France
- Area 3 (France): consisting of Europe with the exception of those countries included in Areas 2 and 4
- Area 4 (Britain): consisting of Great Britain, Northern Ireland and Iceland



Alberta Electoral Divisions

1944 ELECTION

1948

Summary of Results by Electoral Division

Did you know that a plebiscite on electrification was held in conjunction with the 1948 provincial election? Results of the plebiscite favoured the provision of electrical services from private enterprises over public utilities by a margin of 151 votes.

57 Members

One Member per electoral division except Edmonton and Calgary, which had five each. (Note 1)

General Election – Tuesday, August 17, 1948

Over the past 100 years many party affiliations have come and gone from Alberta's political landscape, some with more success than others. One example is the Labour Progressive Party which ran candidates in different areas of the province from 1944 through 1959, but was never able to win a seat in the Legislative Assembly.

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions except in Edmonton and Calgary, which had five each. Single-Member electoral divisions used an alternative, or preferential, voting system wherein electors ranked the candidates in order of preference and votes were transferred if no candidates received a majority of first preferences. Edmonton and Calgary used a system of proportional representation.

2. The number 1 represents First Count results; the number 2 represents Last Count results.

3. C.C.F. means Cooperative Commonwealth Federation; Ind. Citizen's Assoc. means Independent Citizen's Association.

4. Bracketed figures ( ) in the Votes Received column represent the total number of rejected and declined ballots.

5. Percent Voting = (votes received + declined and rejected ballots) / Eligible Electors.

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions except in Edmonton, which had seven and Calgary, which had six. Single-Member electoral divisions used an alternative, or preferential, voting system wherein electors ranked the candidates in order of preference and votes were transferred if no candidates received a majority of first preferences. Edmonton and Calgary used a system of proportional representation.

2. The number 1 represents First Count results; the number 2 represents Last Count results.

3. C.C.F. means Cooperative Commonwealth Federation.

4. Bracketed figures ( ) in the Votes Received column represent the total number of rejected and declined ballots.

5. Percent Voting = (votes received + declined and rejected ballots) / Eligible Electors.

Notes:

1. Single-Member electoral divisions except in Edmonton, which had seven and Calgary, which had six. Single-Member electoral divisions used an alternative, or preferential, voting system wherein electors ranked the candidates in order of preference and votes were transferred if no candidates received a majority of first preferences. Edmonton and Calgary used a system of proportional representation.

2. The number 1 represents First Count results; the number 2 represents Last Count results.

3. C.C.F. means Cooperative Commonwealth Federation.

4. Bracketed figures ( ) in the Votes Received column represent the total number of rejected and declined ballots.

5. Percent Voting = (votes received + declined and rejected ballots) / Eligible Electors.

Summary of Results by Electoral Division

Did you know that in 1959 Alberta returned to the single-Member-plurality voting system in which the candidate with the most votes wins the riding, and each riding elects one Member to the Assembly?

General Election – Wednesday, March 14, 1979

Grant Notley, seen speaking at a 1975 New Democratic Party rally, was the successful candidate in the Spirit River-Fairview constituency during the 1971, 1975, 1979, and 1982 provincial elections. His political career was brought to an end by a tragic plane crash on October 19, 1984.

APPENDICES

Local Vote Plebiscites

- Many "local option" plebiscites have been conducted throughout Alberta. Records indicate that between 1925 and 1957, approximately 126 individual local option plebiscites were conducted on the question "for or against beer licenses."

The Liquor Plebiscite

On October 30, 1957, a liquor plebiscite was conducted as follows:

- Province-wide on the question: "Do you approve additional types of outlets for the sale of beer, wine and spirituous liquor subject to a local vote?"

  There were 580,893 names on the List of Electors, 171,786 voted in favour and 96,961 voted against the issue. Therefore, the majority of 74,825 voters agreed to additional outlets for the sale of beer, wine and spirituous liquor subject to a local vote.

- In addition, the electors of Edmonton and the electors of the Electoral Division of Clover Bar who resided within the corporate boundaries of the City, and the electors of Calgary and those electors of the Electoral Divisions of Banff-Cochrane and Gleichen who resided within the corporate boundaries of Calgary, on the question: "Should mixed drinking be allowed in beer parlours in Edmonton and Calgary and the surrounding areas?"

  There were 244,846 names on the List of Electors. 99,510 voted in favour of mixed drinking while 27,203 voted against. Therefore, a majority of 72,307 voters agreed that mixed drinking should be allowed in the beer parlours of Edmonton and Calgary and the surrounding areas.

The total cost to conduct the 1957 Liquor Plebiscite was $355,309.62.

Plebiscites in Conjunction with Elections

Three major (province-wide) plebiscites have been conducted in conjunction with provincial elections. They are:

- 1948 – Electrification
- 1967 – Daylight Saving Time
- 1971 – Daylight Saving Time

The result of each plebiscite is summarized in the following pages.

Appendix C – Political Parties and Affiliations

The following table lists the names of political parties and the political affiliations used by candidates contesting elections during the past 100 years. The names are listed in the order in which each entity first contested an election in Alberta.

Prior to the implementation of the Election Finances and Contributions Disclosure Act, 1978, candidates were allowed to choose any name for their political affiliation that they believed would suitably convey the political leanings of their campaign. Starting January 1, 1978, political parties and independent candidates were required by the Election Finances and Contributions Disclosure Act to provide appropriate registration information to Elections Alberta. This registration information must be in place before a candidate's nomination papers are accepted and the candidate is allowed to participate in the election.

There are currently nine registered political parties in Alberta. Registration guidelines preclude independent candidates using a political affiliation in their name.

Appendix F – History of Electoral Systems in Alberta

Reflecting population growth, the number of constituencies in Alberta has increased from 25 in 1905 to the current 83. Based primarily on population growth and distribution, the boundaries of these constituencies change after regular reviews. Since 1969, a five-member body called the Electoral Boundaries Commission has determined the location of electoral boundaries, using guidelines contained in the Electoral Boundaries Commission Act.

Alberta presently uses the single-Member plurality electoral system and has done so since 1959. Also known as the 'first-past-the-post' system, this method requires that the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes within a constituency is declared the winner even if that candidate has received less than half of the votes cast. Prior to the adoption of this electoral system, Albertans experimented with different electoral systems, including Members-at-large and two forms of single transferable voting.

In 1917, during the First World War, the Statutes of Alberta were modified to allow for the election of two soldiers for the province at large, in addition to the single Member elected to serve each constituency.*

By 1921, the Statutes of Alberta no longer included provision for the election of Members-at-large, but the number of constituencies throughout the province had grown to 61. Each of these constituencies elected one Member to the Legislative Assembly of Alberta, except for the constituencies of Edmonton and Calgary, each of which returned five Members, and Medicine Hat, which returned two Members. In these multi-Member constituencies, each voter could cast as many votes as there were candidates. Medicine Hat was a multi-Member constituency for only the 1921 election, but the Edmonton and Calgary multi-Member constituencies continued to return between five and seven representatives each until 1956, when the electoral districts were divided into smaller single-Member constituencies.

The single transferable vote system was used from 1926 through 1955, during the period in which the Edmonton and Calgary constituencies returned multiple candidates to the Legislative Assembly. Under this electoral system, voters marked their ballots by writing '1' for their first choice, '2' for their second, and so on. Voters retained the option of voting for one, some or all of the candidates listed on the ballot. The votes were then tallied according to the first choice indicated on each ballot. The number, or quota, of votes necessary to win a seat varied depending on the number of seats available. When five seats were available, then any candidate who obtained more than one-sixth of the vote was assured a seat. When six seats were available, anything over one-seventh of the vote was sufficient for a candidate to win, and so forth. After the results were tallied based on the first preference vote, any candidate who had received the required quota of votes was deemed to have won a seat in the Legislative Assembly. At this point, the surplus votes of the winning candidates were redistributed among the remaining candidates according to the second choices marked on the ballots. Once the votes had been recounted and distributed proportionally, any remaining candidates who had now received the required quota of the vote also won a seat in the Legislative Assembly. This process continued until the number of seats available in the constituency was filled. In the case of a tie, the candidate with the most first-preference votes won the seat. If a situation arose in which no candidate received the required quota of votes and no candidate had surplus votes available for distribution, the candidate with the lowest number of votes was considered defeated and his or her votes would be redistributed according to the voters' next preference. Once a candidate was considered elected or defeated, he or she could no longer receive any votes and their ballots would be distributed according to the next preference listed. Candidates would be declared elected without having reached the necessary quota of votes once the number of candidates either elected or remaining was equivalent to the number of seats available. The method of counting and redistributing votes under the single transferable vote system was outlined in detail, including instructions for dealing with ties and other potential challenges, in the Statutes of the Province of Alberta, but in most situations the following steps would be a sufficient guideline:

1. Count the votes for each candidate according to the first preference indicated on each ballot.

2. Calculate the quota. [Number of valid votes/(Seats available + 1)] + 1 = Quota

3. Candidates with sufficient votes to meet or exceed the quota are declared elected. If all available seats are filled the election is completed. If seats remain vacant it must be determined whether any elected candidates received a surplus of votes (more votes than required by the quota). If so then Step 4 would follow, if there are no candidates with surplus votes then Step 5 would apply.

4. Redistribute the ballots of an elected candidate according to the next preference indicated on the ballot. Ballots with no additional preferences indicated are "discarded." Determine the transfer value of the redistributed votes according to the number of surplus votes received by the winning candidate. For example, if Candidate A has won a seat with 900 votes all of these votes would be distributed to remaining candidates according to the second preference indicated on the ballot. If the quota of votes necessary to win a seat is 800 then Candidate A has won with a surplus of 100 votes. After all the votes are redistributed it is noted that Candidate B has received 800 of the 900 votes, or approximately 89% of the vote. This ratio is applied to the 100 surplus number votes available from Candidate A, resulting in 89 votes for Candidate B. Add the transferred votes to the number of first preference votes received by each continuing candidate in the initial count then return to Step 3.

5. If there are no surpluses available for distribution but there are more candidates remaining than there are seats available then the candidate with the lowest number of votes is eliminated. The votes for the eliminated candidate are then redistributed to the remaining candidates according to the next choice indicated on the ballot. This process can be repeated until another candidate reaches the quota or the number of remaining candidates matches the number of seats available.

Between 1926 and 1959, other constituencies in Alberta (those outside of Edmonton and Calgary) used a preferential single-Member electoral system, also known as the 'transferable ballot' or the 'alternative-vote' system. This system allowed voters to rank the candidates on the ballot by preference. Using this system, the vote was tallied according to the first preference indicated on the ballot. If no candidate received an absolute majority, then the candidate with the fewest votes would be eliminated and all ballots for the eliminated candidate were redistributed according to the voter's second preference. This process was repeated as many times as necessary until one candidate emerged with more than 50 per cent of the vote, as illustrated in the following example:

XYZ Electoral Division
Candidate Name	Votes Received	Percentage of Vote
Candidate A	215	21.5%
Candidate B	410	41.0%
Candidate C	375	37.5%
Totals	1000	100.0%

As no candidate has received a majority of the votes cast then the candidate with the lowest number of votes, Candidate A, is eliminated and these votes are redistributed among the remaining candidates. In this example, 10 ballots listing Candidate A as first preference did not indicate any further preferences and were not included in the second count.

Results of the second vote indicate Candidate C has received over fifty percent of the vote and is declared elected.

Remaining Candidates	Votes received at first count	Votes received at second count	Total	Percentage of Vote
Candidate B	410	55	465	47%
Candidate C	375	150	525	53%
Totals	785	205	990	100%
